For the past twenty years, the Connecticut Trauma Conference has provided high quality education in trauma, critical care, and injury prevention. The Program Committee has looked toward local, regional and national experts in the field, some of whom speak herein to the panel.

The keynote speaker is a trauma surgeon who will share a personal experience with trauma, critical care and injury prevention topics including Extension of Eligibility, Health Traumatology, Management of Trauma in Society and Extreme Trauma.

This conference is designed to educate caregivers across the spectrum of trauma care, including pre-hospital providers, nurses, midlevel practitioners and physicians of all specialties.

The learning objectives of this meeting are:

To discuss the unique aspects of care of the patient with severe extremity injuries
To review new and improved techniques in caring for trauma patients
To discuss the challenges with the care of pediatric trauma patients
To review current concepts in caring for patients who have sustained anoxia.

To address challenges in End of Care.

To delve into current thinking on expanding and new management strategies for their management.
